The Lakeland Library App is Being Replaced

We have good news, and we have bad news. First the bad news: Due to circumstances beyond our control, the current Lakeland Library app will be discontinued as of December 11, 2023. The good news is that the new app will be even better and more user-friendly than the current app. It will make searching for and requesting books & movies easier than ever, and it will still have that handy self-checkout feature. Unfortunately, the new app won't be ready to launch until spring.

Please be assured this change does NOT affect the Libby app or the Hoopla app – these two services will continue without changes. It's just the Lakeland app that is being replaced. That's the one that lets you place holds, view your checkouts, renew items and more from your mobile device.

We think the new app will be worth the wait, and we appreciate your patience and understanding as we work to get it launched as quickly as possible. In the meantime, you can still access your account and place holds from your mobile device in two ways. Visit wllib.org and use the "search the library" and "account log-in" buttons, or go straight to llc.bibliocommons.com and log in with your library card.
